

This leg was more or less decided soon after the start when a decision about how far south to go had to be made. Here the fleet split into three main groups. The one with the winner and the rest of the podium was in the north since a nice E-bound path appeared around 52S. Outlaw was the boat which staid to the north of all the fleet and this gave him the lead position. Aner was also in a good spot and clearly ahead but made a small mistake so I had the chance to overtake. No valuable options appeared in the last 5000nm (!) so I decided to cover my 2nd place instead of going for a too risky attack for the top spot.
