

Seoul to Seoul Race

This race started when I was a little surprised and scared because the registration had not opened before the scheduled start time 18:00.

Somehow, I came into the race before all others, started and began to wonder what was wrong. Wrote on the chat 18:08: What happens to race Seoul to Seoul in 2014? I am alone and have started ???.

Smo responded 18:09: Newsie started too .. timed race. I replied, 18:15: Ok. So the registration was closed until to 18:00. Got it, thanks.

Kroppyer filled in with info. Thank you all.

I sailed on in front of more and more boats. It was not so good. Do not remember where I left off. During the last leg in the middle of the night, I noticed the wind increases and favorable angle for another round.

Since I am a retired sailor and truck driver, and used to being awake when it is required, I started a new attempt. The winds were not so hard but the angles were 100% in my favor throughout the round. The only little difficulty was around DMZ island 2.

Then it's also very easy to win races! On the other hand, I am not so bad an online sailor, according to SYC rankings!

I will take the opportunity to thank those of you who make these races possible.

After sailing all my life of 75 years in the merchant navy, the navy force and racing in large and small boats, it is fantastic to be able to continue on the web. Thank you all.

Exmariner