

I would like to thank Sailonline.org and Sail Training International for running these series of races. It is quite interesting to sail with slow boat with bad upwind performance. I cannot imagine how these boats were used to explore Earth. Kudos to explorers!

I am giving credit to virtual sailors sailing in the Tall Ship series. Patience is needed to care these boats to finish. It was pleasure try to be competitive to you.

PetrM / September 2014