

As M.M. suggested, a "pleasant short 32nm.blast!"

From my point of view, I finally found a race that slipped delightfully in with a Saturday night dinner party!

A quick round of pre-dinner drinks, (exit stage rear, to set my course), followed by appetizers (exit stage left, the start&almost immediate course change).

A most relaxing meal, (3 hours of racing to windward) followed by the dinner guests all joining me to adjust a course to the finish. Great SOL recruitment night!!!

I would love to visit that particular island chain irl - probably good for pirate race.
