

What can I write about the race?

Another hard work. A short distance. Inconvenient time zone.

At the end of the race, zero asked: "what is your secret ?? amazing ..."

I regret that I did not answer immediately. I'll try to answer now.

There is no secret. Only practice, experience and perseverance. And a good router :)

At the beginning of the race everything did not go successfully.

A bad start, faster rivals ...

After maneouvers in the middle distance, the situation improved slightly. But only a little.

Each race has a key moment. This time: the calculation of the exact time of the last change of tack.

Many thanks to all the volunteers of Sailonline.org for giving us the opportunity to participate in such a great race!

best regards, kenza
