Once again the SPRINT quarterly Championship has been a great thriller till the very end. After four legs, just before the final fifth run, two boats were even in the provisional Series leaderboard: zero and WINSTON_4. Antonio (zero) has placed this year a very strong personal signature on Sprint races that leads to believe that he is N.1 favorite for the yearly overall series score. (He also won the Q2 COGC race, which to all effects is a Super Sprint single leg.)

During the last leg, that as to timing was not in his favor (0800Z start) he managed to stay with the leading group, but did not manage to beat WIN, who, with a consistent 4th place, got Q2.

The last race saw a "to be remembered" event: For the very first time ever a PYOC race was really square even on both courses options. Before the start the northern run had may be less than two minutes advantage, but at the end the runners of the southerly course managed to reduce that gap to less than one minute.

SOL myth Smo did put twice everybody else in a nice raw behind him and won the third and fourth race. If we add to this his victory in the last TIMED, there is nobody else who has won so much in Q2. (Championships wise)

A total of 120 boats (SYC members) qualified for Series rankings Q2 SPRINT
