

This was Go4iT's first result when I mixed it with the seniors, apart for my very good fortune on the Tasman race, and that was due to selecting to go to the stronger wind. The trimarans love the stronger wind and it may be that the routers concentrate more on getting closer to the destination than getting there faster. Anyway I came out of Darwin looking for stronger wind and once in that wind I found myself towards the front and then I looked to stay in the stronger wind even at the expense of not closing towards the destination.

I am delighted with my top ten result and would like to pay tribute to Kipper for his router and Bimmer for explaining how to use it.
