

The morning, for us in Europe, we arrived I was so tired I only had the strength to say a few "grazie";

but actually I really want to congratulate everyone of the fleet who accomplished the whole round the world race; yes, it is true that we race from our "armchairs", but it is also true that it is, anyway, a task that needs dedication, early morning wake up and even, in some cases "frictions" with the persons you live or work with :).

To say thank you to all those I enjoyed battling with for a position during the whole series of races

And to say a few "special" thanks; to Dingo and Dikke who shared with me till the end the attempt to reach a place on podium, specially with Dingo, always in the lead since a long time, incredibly constant all way long. To beat him was very difficult and I succeeded only winning the last regatta and hoping for some little mistake from him :).

And here a couple more special thanks to rafa and rumskib; to be competing with them in the last race gave to my win an even sweeter taste as, since I started SOLing it was watching them, and few others, how they sail, the move they make and when...that I learned enough to arrive here ;-)

And obviously, a very special thanks to all those working to make this game possible
