

Young 11

GENERAL ARRANGEMENT

POLAR DIAGRAM

ACTION PHOTO

SOL RACE RECORD

Plagiarising and paraphrasing what Jim Young has written about his Young 11, the prototype, Honeywell, was built by his brother Alan in 1980 for Ross Field, who had owned the first Young 88, Paddy Wagon. The Young 11 was a logical step up from the Young 88 and also featured beamy, dinghy-type lines with flared sides.

That bit bigger and more expensive than its smaller sister, the 88 has eclipsed her over the years in terms of popularity, but on SOL, since the pair were introduced to us by the late SOLer NZL_yachtyakka back in 2009, that contest has been pretty even.

Racelist