The series for 2019 included all results from the twelve Ocean races, eight Timed races, twelve Sailonline Yacht Club races and the sixteen Sprint races giving a total of forty-eight races. Unfortunately two races were lost due to significant Wx receipt incidents and so we had just 46 races. With a discard of six races, that leaves forty races to score towards the SUPERSOLER Cup.

The SUPERSOL Championship this year goes to rafa who has improved on his second place last year with a score of just 373 points comprising four 1st, three 2^{nds}, two 3^{rds}, four 4^{ths}, five 5^{ths} and the story goes on with his worst scoring race being a 40th. Seemingly rafa was monitoring his SUPERSOL score as his discards were one DNF and five DNSs when he could truly relax.

Second in SUPERSOL was Bimmer with a score of 627 with no win but a string of single figure places culminating in his worst score of a 39th. Bimmer did not know when to take a rest in any race and all but one of his discards was a scoring result. Chasing Bimmer was brandystrega with total points of 660 with five scores in the top ten and a worst scoring point of 29th. Like Bimmer, brandystrega does not give up and each of his discard races was scoring.

The balance of the top ten were as follows in numerical order:

- robert1
- Go4iT
- trew55
- sassy63
- LittleSurprise
- Kipper1258
- intermezzo

In closing I note that several places in the top ten are taken by long-term SOLers and so just maybe there is some reward in persistence to complete as many races as you can accommodate?

For 2020 the SUPERSOLER cup comprises forty-two races out of the forty-eight that include twelve Ocean races, sixteen Sprint races, eight Timed races and twelve SYC Championship races.
