

The case of the wrong strategy

A very short race report on a long race - by George (Jawz)

My plan for this leg was to look after my overall podium position and stay in and around 5 boats, and no matter what happened everywhere else on the course, stick with the "Gang". These boats were bonkhoot, Mullionman, SimeMali and rafa.....

It didn't work

I slipped from 2nd to 4th

The End

Great come from behind podium Skovser and batatabh! You weren't on my radar and your podium is well deserved. All my research said to stick to where the Trades are traditionally so to make a bold decision to sail east was ballsy indeed.

My head says I can't wait for the next Round The World but for now my body says F#$k that Sh&t old man you need to sleep more! 😊
