

SOL History?

I do not think ever that two brothers have finished on the podium on Sailonline. It was a close run thing though Pit had Henrys sweating after Dassen island. I had called Henry in the middle of that leg and he mentioned that he just could not understand how Pit had managed to catch up to him so quickly. So much so that all down that leg the game engine was reversing the positioning. It was only at Milnerton Beach area, where we made the two last tacks for the line that Pit had made his mistake and blew his chance of a podium and gave the third position finally over to Henry. Thanks Pit you helped make history!

The story of two brothers

These two photos were taken so long ago now I can't remember when exactly. They were taken by my Dad when we were living in Cape Town. George is on the left Henry on the right.

These two photos were taken a bit more recently. Fortunately this one shows me with a little less grey than what actually exists. I really think us both are using the wrong shampoo...you know, that one with the bleaching effect?

This photo was taken at my wedding anniversary and shows just how naughty us Snoek boys are. Here I grab Henry by the ba#%s just as the photo was taken 😊

I had enjoyed a few drinks too many by that stage and just couldn't resist the temptation. The surprised look on my brother's face is priceless. Just take a look at my white knuckles holding him so hard that he couldn't escape!.

One of my favourite moments....Apart from finishing on the Sailonline podium together for the South African race!
