

Sailonline Shetland 2020 race – Leg 1

---

Hallo everyone

I have been invited to produce a race report after my victory on the Shetlands race leg 1.

Must say that I do not really know what to write, so I will tell you this:

I am new to the SOL platform, but I find it as great fun.

I have already joined the Italian SOL Whatsapp group gang and I felt immediately very welcome. This happened after me earning a one year SMPF SYC membership for a reasonably good result in the Migaloo Ocean race.

Then I started the Shetlands supposing to have understood all the tips the gang had given to me. Someone talked about big routers, gibs and tools .....For the time being I have understood NOTHING !!!

So I used fingers on keyboard and mouse, toothpicks to keep the eyes open during the night, and found myself first over the finish line.

How this happened? ....do not really know ...I have to assume that I have been favored by some good weather update and by some mistake by the opposition.....may be .....

I accepted the invitation to write something after the race only to take a better chance to thank all those who congratulated me for winning the race after the finish. I was so tired that I could only say thank you.

I promise that I will be more lively next time, but I cannot tell when next time I win will be. I can only promise that I will try to learn very very fast, as SOL is great fun to me.

Thank you all ....and ....Ciao

Alfredo – Sax747