

The Tall Ships Races Magellan-Elcano Series 2021 Leg 1

Falmouth to A Coruna -Report

At the start of the race I tried to keep a medium route between who choose more speed with a wider angle and who choose to go with less angle but minor distance. Going forward and analyzing the meteo evolution with a significant wind rotation I decided to insist on a east route also if with less pressure and took the risk. After the last gybe for some time I hope to be able to resist to the boats coming from West with better angle but soon I feel that would be impossible to contain the overcome by Bonk so I pointed to the east pin of the finish and cross my fingers to be able to close on second place but the Dingo was able to overcome me too. Well in any case I was very happy to reach my second podium and I learn something more from more experienced sailor and enjoying a lot this race with a very tight finish.

Thanks and congrats to Boonk and Dingo!!!

Mediterranean

August 2021