

Svalbard circuit 2025 – report by MaxStarostin

It was very difficult to keep up with Mirek who was leading the whole way. lol
Japan time is 9 hours ahead of UTC and the midnight time zone is different, so there were some difficult places depending on my sleeping time zone and the sleeping time zone of sailors in Europe, Africa, North America and South America. Especially on the route north of Nordaustlandet and along the coast of Nordvest-Spitsbergen nasjonalpark, it seemed that each regional sailor's late-night time zone made the difference between victory and defeat.

Thank you!
